

Nevins Launches a NEW website

Houston, TX – June 8, 2016

Nevins' new website is faster, easier to navigate, and more user friendly.

The new website provides superior and intuitive access to Nevins' versatile product line, as well as extensive resources for customers. The new enhancements will ensure an informative user experience. Simplified site navigation and exceptional search capability make it effortless for visitors to find the appropriate product or application information.

NEW website features:

- Revit files now available on several product lines, and increasing every week
- A minimalist design that drives the users' experience
- Clean, concise menu & filters
- Easy site navigation with access to essential product information
- Richer content that is easy to share with others
- Imagery and animations that create a visual stage for Nevins' products
